For the Hillwood Fanatic

The Houses and Collections of Marjorie Merriweather Post: The Joy of It

Celebrate and explore philanthropist Marjorie Merriweather Post's passion for her residences and personal collections in Hillwood's newest publication, which reveals how the visionary Post oversaw elegant and well-run residences and amassed extraordinary collections of astounding beauty.

Postum

C.W. Post, Marjorie Post's father, created Postum in 1895 after seeking a healthier alternative to coffee, and the recipe remains the same to this day. This 20th-century household staple is perfect for the Hillwood devotee, nostalgic friends, or curious newcomers.

Marjorie Tumbler Candle

Add the elegance of Hillwood to their home with a line of three signature scents inspired by Marjorie Post and the mansion and gardens at Hillwood. Each candle is branded with Post's signature and created by local candle company Lita+Ro.

For the Gardener

A Garden for All Seasons: Marjorie Merriweather Post's Hillwood

Enter the garden paradise of Marjorie Merriweather Post's Washington, D.C., estate in the first book on the history and design of the remarkable grounds

Garden Sign

Mamie Eisenhower, wife of President Dwight D. Eisenhower, gave Marjorie Post a copy of the garden plaque that Eisenhower had designed for the rose garden at the White House in 1958, featuring the fourth stanza of the poem "The Lord God Planned a Garden" by Dorothy Frances Gurney.

Greenhouse Ornament

Add a bit of Hillwood to your tree with this new ornament inspired by the iconic greenhouse, featuring gorgeous blooms in miniature.

For the Jewelry Connoisseur

Five-Strand Pearl Necklace

Marjorie Post loved pearls, and so will any lucky recipient. Available in three color combinations, this multi-strand necklace is made of beautiful freshwater pearls.

Spectacular: Gems and Jewelry from the Merriweather Post Collection

Enjoy an enthralling glimpse into Marjorie Post's jewelry collection, one of the most remarkable, and intact, ever amassed. Learn about jewelry history and design through pieces from Cartier, Harry Winston, Van Cleef & Arpels, and more.
